Alcinéo and ICC Solutions successfully collaborated for the certification of the new Alcinéo kernel using the newly validated ICCSimTMat tool for JCB 1.6 contactless terminal type approvals.

Alcinéo, recognized provider of EMV payment software and contactless Level 2 kernels integrating all types of payment terminals, and ICC Solutions, established provider of testing solutions and certification services for more than 25 years, have successfully collaborated on the development and accreditation of the new ICC testing tool for JCB 1.6 terminal type approval.

During the post validation phase of the tool, the J/ Speedy kernel developed by Alcinéo, fully compliant with JCB Contactless IC Terminal Specifications has been used by ICC team to fully validate the test scripts set by the English tool provider to further ensure the tool quality.

Step by step, the tool has been validated, through a strong cooperation between the two teams, to reach the goal : the utilization of the tool during a Type Approval in an accredited laboratory so that it can be used by Alcinéo in JCB L2 certifications.

This close collaboration enabled Alcinéo to be confident that their solution would be certified efficiently at the JCB accredited Laboratory.

At the achievement of this project, A. Corria, president of Alcinéo stated : "We value partnership and we were thrilled to participate in the further validation of a new testing tool fully compliant with JCB requirements"

Quote from ICC : We were delighted to work with our long-standing customer, Alcinéo, on this important project for both companies. Having the fully validated JCB L2 test tool in our portfolio gives us greater flexibility for our customers and keeps ICC Solutions at the forefront of EMV testing.
